

JHSC: Part 1 Certification Training

The Ontario Occupational Health & Safety Act requires at least one worker and one management representative of every Joint Health & Safety Committee (JHSC) become a “certified” JHSC member. Certification requires successful completion of two mandatory parts: Basic and Workplace-Specific Hazard training. This course provides the fundamental health and safety information applicable to all workplaces. It meets the standards required by the Workplace Safety and Insurance Board (WSIB) for JHSC Part 1 Basic Certification Training.

EKG’s program covers the mandatory requirements using an interactive approach that develops practical knowledge and skills. EKG has the resources to complete this training with highly skilled and effective trainers. Return to your workplace with proven techniques and tools making you a valuable member of your JHSC.

While intended for certified JHSC members, this course is beneficial for any member of your organization including managers, supervisors, workers and non-certified JHSC members. Health and safety is everyone’s responsibility; this course builds a solid health and safety foundation for anyone at your facility.
